Dignity for All Students Act (DASA)

The amended Dignity for All Students Act (DASA) took effect on July 1, 2013, under this amended legislation beginning January 1, 2014, all persons applying to the NYS Education Department for an administrative or supervisory service, classroom teaching service or school service certificate or coaching license must complete six (6) hours of coursework or training in harassment, bullying and discrimination prevention and intervention. The training proactively addresses the social patterns of harassment, bullying and discrimination and is designed to provide participants with the knowledge and skills needed to create an affirming school environment for all students.

Participants must be in attendance for the full session to receive a certificate of completion. Payment of $80.00 must be received prior to the day of the training in check, MO or cash, unless other arrangements have been made. Training is limited to 20 participants so register early. Feel free to mail, fax (477-1335) or email bgrochan@questar.org your registration. You will be contacted if the workshop must be cancelled. Plan to attend if you send in a registration form. Thank you.
